A British Prime Minister, William Pitt, the Earl of Chatham, was a friend of the American Colonies and gave his name to the county in which Boling Chair Company is located. During the 18th century, traditional styles in furniture were favored in court circles and by the patrons of cabinetmakers who demanded the finest in design and craftsmanship. In the Boling 25 Series Chatham Collection we have perpetuated this tradition of pleasing design and craftsmanship of the past combined with twentieth century furniture manufacturing technology in our modern plants.

Boling offers timeless traditional styling in these desks. The finish is a warm and durable oil walnut over a combination of quartered walnut veneer on the panels, book matched veneer on drawer fronts plus solid walnut bases, top mouldings, and trim. The top is faced with walnut grained satin finish, high pressure plastic laminate.
Interiors are finished by a special process to a smooth dark blending color. Full extension drawer guides on file drawers assure easy operation. Drawer stops are standard on all drawers.
